IN FAVOR OF THE CITY.

Verdict of the Jury in the Phipps Suit.

The examination of witnesses in the case of J. Henry Phipps vs. the city of Greensboro, was concluded about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and G. Sam Bradshaw, attorney for plaintiff, opened the argument of counsel. He was followed by Mayor Taylor for the city, and then A. M. Scales for the city, spoke for half an hour. Mr. Bradshaw closed the argument, and the case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock.

The jury was composed of S. S. Mitchell, J. W. Pugh, J. W. Coletrane, W. H. Andrews, Will H. Matthews and A. L. Rankin.

There were two issues, and the jury answered them as follows:

Has this same cause of action between the same parties hereto been formerly adjudicated by J. A. Pritchett, justice of the peace, and judgment rendered in favor of the defendant and against plaintiff, and is said judgment still in full force? Answer: Yes.

Is defendant indebted to the plaintiff and if so, in what amount? Answer: No.

A verdict was reached about 8 o'clock last night, and the plaintiff gave notice of appeal.

Mr. Phipps sues the city for $46 31 for groceries furnished the man Fentress, who was quarantined as a smallpox patient last March.

This cause was tried by Justice Pritchett some time ago, and the counsel for defendant requested that his decision be dismissed because the board of aldermen had not passed upon the claim. This was done, and Mr. Phipps again instituted suit.

The jury answered the first issue in a few minutes after retiring, and then sent for Mr. Pritchett to know if that ended their work. They were instructed to answer the second issue also.

The "Keswick" vici kid and box calf leather-lined shoes for men sold by Thacker and Brockmann are admitted by all who have seen them to be the best all round shoe for the price on the market. They are not only handsome, dressy, good fitting shoes, but they have the stout wearing qualities needed in winter and rough weather. The price is three dollars and they come in all sizes from 5 to 11.

SOME UNEASINESS AT LONDON

Over the Announcement of the Admiralty that Landing Port of Troops May be Changed.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM

London, Nov. 7—A dispatch from Kimberly via Hopetown, dated last Wednesday, says the Boers have fired the town of Veldt, near Dronfield, seven miles from Kimberly. The flames set fire to the smaller of the two magazines of dynamite, which exploded with a terrific report. Nobody was injured. Veldt is still burning. It is feared the larger magazine will be blown up. Twelve hundred cases of dynamite are stored there and a most terrific explosion is feared.

UNEASINESS AT LONDON.

London, Nov. 7.—Uneasiness was caused by the announcement of the admiralty office that some delay may mark the landing of the troops in South Africa. Belief is that this means the situation is such that the port of debarkation may be changed.

ANOTHER VICTIM CLAIMED.

Died in a Shuck Pile—Strong Drink the Cause.

The Salisbury Sun says:

There was a funeral at St. Matthews church, in the county, this morning over the remans of W. R. Reed—a victim of strong drink.

Mr. Reid was about 50 years old and leaves a wife and several children. He lived in the pool neighborhood and was a man of some property. His neighbors called him a good man and respected him. But he would drink.

Saturday night he attended a corn shucking at his brother's. "Tea" was served and he took his part He and a man named Miller got off to themselves and Miller dragged Reed under some planks and covered him with shucks.

Later in the night Reed was missed and a search was instituted. Some time before day Miller looked where he had left his friend and found him stiff in death.

Croner Dorsett was sent for but no inquest was deemed necessary. The coroner said death was caused by overloading with strong drink.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., Nov. 7.

This is chrysanthemum day.

Fine day, Capt. Rankin! Its a young conductor.

W. H. Wetmore came up from Greensboro yesterday.

W. H. Ragan represented High Point in Greensboro yesterday.

John and Miss Rosella Sechrest drove through the country to Greensboro today.

W. A. Waters, of Philadelphia, and Jno. R. Brown, of Atlanta, were here yesterday.

Jim Reid acted in capacity of conductor on the Asheboro road yesterday. Albert Chandler filled his place.

We learn that several deer are roaming over the soil in lower Randolph and that hunting the same is indulged in no little.

Mrs. J. A. Blair and S. W. Laughlin of Asheboro and S. Bryant, of Randleman, came up on the Asheboro train yesterday.

Hello, Greensboro! We are told by the telephone man here that by next week we will be connected by phone with Greensboro.

A list of the prizes and prize winners of the High Point chrysanthemum show will be published this week. Watch the Telegram.

One hundred and ten bowls on one cotton stalk is what J. H. Fritts produced on his home soil. He will answer all questions asked.

Chas. Hauser, assistant cashier at the Commercial National Bank, returned last night from a visit of several days to his home in Yadkinville.

Died yesterday at two o'clock the 4-months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ridge. Interment took place in High Point cemetery this morning at 10 o'clock.

Died yesterday at 12 o'clock at his home near this place, Calvin Kennedy. His remains were interred in Pleasant Grove cemetery this evening at two o'clock. Mr. Kennedy for some time ran a grocery store here and was liked by all who knew him.

Last night Edwin D. Steele, of this place, went before the board of aldermen and made application for a franchise for water works for the city of High Point, stating names of parties interested who reside in Pennsylvania and New York. The board continued the hearing until the next meeting.

The remains of Miss Eleanor Stanback, who was killed by the train here about nine months ago and whose body has been resting in the cemetery at Trinity, was taken up last evening by Undertaker Sechrest and carried to Raleigh this morning for interment, the future home of the Stanback family.

At the sale in Greensboro yesterday, C. L. Moon, administrator of the late Capt Endy, bid in the home place containing residence and fifty acres, for the heirs at $675 00. One fourth interest in the Garden Valley tract of 249 acres brought $700 00; and the farm of 214 acres, $690 00; both being bid off by Dr. Armfield, of Jamestown.

On the train last night we noticed Bob Ragan talking to a country man who had purchased a blue steel square for $1. "Why," says Bob, "they cheated you; I could have sold you the same article for 80 cents in High Point." The man looked at him a moment and said, "could you?" "Who are you, anyway?" says Bob, pulling the man's hat off. "Oh, yes. I didn't know you" The next moment the porter called out High Point and the conversation ended.

Where's the Band?

In the department of music yesterday, Mr J. W. Tillinghast said: "With the single exception of the orchestra, there is no society here that has a musical purpose or can in any sense be called a musical society."

We are of the opinion that Mr. Tillinghast unintentionally omitted the Gate City Band, and as he is out of town today, we make this statement. The Gate City Band certainly deserves to have as much said of it as any organization of the kind in the land, and it is not fair to the boys who have labored so assiduously to perfect the band to say that they do not deserve to be classed as a musical organization. So far as the Telegram is concerned, it desires to accord the band full credit for, and recognition of, what it is, and what its possibilities are. And this is said, of course, without disparagement to the orchestra, which is an excellent musical organization.

Given Seventeen Years.

Hon. R. B. Glenn, of Winston, passed through the city last night on his return home from Rockingham superior court. The first of the six capital cases was disposed of yesterday. Acey Flyn was convicted of murder in the second degree and given seventeen years in the penitentiary. He killed his brother at Madison several weeks ago. Mr. Glenn represented the defendant

Smith Sisters Tonight.

FOR MR. HOBART'S PLACE.

Various Candidates Already being Talked Of

MANY WASHINGTON EMPLOYEES

Gone to Their Respective Homes to Vote in the Elections Today.

Other Matters.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Nov. 7—President McKinley left for Canton, Ohio, where he casts his vote in the state election this afternoon. He left for his home city last night in a special car attached to the regular train, and was accompanied by only Mrs. McKinley and Secretary Cortelyou. The president has made it a point to cast his vote at every election since his inauguration, and in this regard sets a worthy example to the subordinates in the public service. The president is a firm believer in the exercise of the right of suffrage, and believes that it is the duty of every good citizen to go to the polls, if it is possible to do so on election day. The president will not stay in Canton only for a short time. He will return to Washington this morning.

Arrangements have been made to inform the president of the result of the elections at the earliest possible moment. He will receive bulletins on the train en route home, large batches being handed to him at all of the large cities en route.

The president is naturally much interested in the Ohio election. All along he has been sanguine of a sweeping republican victory, and expressed to his visitors Monday his opinion that Nash would win by some fifty or sixty thousand plurality. Mr. McKinley has earned the reputation of being a good political prophet, but his hopefulness is not shared by many officials in Washington. Most of them believe that Nash will be elected, but they rather look for a small plurality, perhaps not more than ten thousand.

Nearly all Ohio, Kentucky and Maryland officials and clerks have gone home to help their party out in those states. The democrats have also sent out a large number of voters, especially to Maryland.

The retirement of Vice-President Hobart from the field for renomination, will result in a number of candidates for the vice-presidency at the coming republican convention. Among the many names already spoken of are Hon. Whitelaw Reid, who was on the ticket with Harrison, Hon. H. Clay Evans and Senator Frye, of Maine

Senator Frye, it is said, is not a candidate. He is at present president protempore of the Senate, and as such has a vote as senator. He stated the other day that he would not give up the senatorship and the presidency pro tem of the senate for the office of vice-president, which, to his mind, has not many allurements, excepting the social position it carries.

Hon. H. Clay Evans will have many friends who will push his claims, but his course as commissioner of pensions and the antagonism of the soldier element would probably operate to set him aside as a possible candidate.

A gentleman stated the other day that the question of the vice-presidential succession to Mr. Hobart would probably not be decided until the meeting of the national convention, and that any slate which might now be arranged would in all probability be changed after the convention meets. The nominee is just as likely to be some dark horse as to be a person who is prominently mentioned in advance.

Col. O. O. Stealy, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who has been in charge of the transportation bureau of the Kentucky democracy, stated Monday that a large number of voters went home from Washington. He says his advices from the state are very satisfactory, and he fully expects that Goebel will win out.

Hon. Clifton R. Breckenridge, of Arkansas, is at the Arlington Hotel for a few days. Mr. Breckenridge says there is nothing of interest of a political nature at present in his state. He says Kentucky is absorbing all interest now.

Edgar Royer, the well known Washington correspondent, representing the Richmond Times, and other southern newspapers has returned to Washington. He will remain here until the session of congress. Mr. Royer says that Hon. Thomas Martin will be re-elected senator from Virginia. In regard to the election today he says that the legislature will be as largely democratic as at present.

A large number of voters went down to Colonial Beach this morning for the purpose of voting in the town election there. The voters will return to the city late tonight.

The Submarine Boat Succeeds.

New York, Nov. 6—The submarine torpedo torpedo boat Holland was successfully tested in Peconic bay, Long Island, today. At the close of the test the members of the board of inspection, Rear Admiral Rogers, Commanders Wm. H. Emery and Chas. H. Roliker and Naval Constructor Washington E. Capps shook hands with John P. Holland, the inventor, and congratulated him upon his success. He had waited 25 years for victory and tears stole down his cheeks when the naval officers greeted him.

Winston Auditorium.

Work will begin in a few days on the Winston auditorium. The building will be pushed rapidly to completion.

STATE WILL APPEAL

In the Matter of Judge Simonton's Decision.

Col. Olds says in the Charlotte Observer:

"The corporation commission is in session again this week. Among other things to which it will give special attention will be an appeal from Judge Simonton's decision in the railroad tax assessment case. Attorney F. M. Simmons said today that an appeal would immediately be taken, and that the suit would go to the end of the law; to the circuit court of appeals, and then, if necessary, to the supreme court. He expressed surprise at the decision and the point made, saying he expected that the judge would follow the custom of the United States supreme court, which sustains the construction put by the state courts on state laws. The state court in such cases holds that the laws enacted at one session of the legislature are to be considered pari materia, as was the case in the asylum cases and in the Day penitentiary case.

CARNEGIE ASKS $125,000,000.

Steel King's Price for Three-Fourths Interest in His Mills.

Andrew Carnegie has signed his name to document in which he states that for the sum of $125,000,000 he will part with his entire holdings in the Carnegie-Phipps-Frick plants. This document is an option on all of Carnegie's vast productive interests, and it is now in the hands of Henry C Frick, Mr. Carnegie's partner, who went to Scotland to get it.

Mr. Carnegie will take part payment in cash and the rest in 5 per cent bonds of the recognized corporation. Five per cent of $125,000,000 is $6,250,000. The reorganization plan has been submitted to several New York banks.

Mr. Carnegie owns 75 per cent of the concerns which bear his name, and Mr. Frick 23 per cent. On this basis the plant's were valued at $167,000,000, and Frick's share at about $40,000,000, before the recent enormous rise in value of all iron and steel products.

AMERICAN AS BOER STRATEGIST.

A West Pointer's Hand Evidenced in Joubert's Tactics.

Army officers are inclined to believe that an American, a graduate of West Point and an ex-army officer of the regular army, J. Y. Fullmore Blake, is responsible for the Boer strategy which has had such serious results for the British on the borders of the Transvaal.

It is known here that Blake, who was a lieutenant in the Third cavalry, and who resigned and left the country, is now an officer in the service of the Transvaal, and officers who know him think they can see the signs of his work in the movements of the Boer army. Blake is an Arkansas man, and is described as having unusual ability combined with a restless, adventurous and ambitious spirit.—Washington special, 3rd, to Philadelphia Record.

An Evening Call.

"I called on Perkins last evening," remarked Mr. Brown.

"Did you have a pleasant time?" inquired Mrs. Brown.

"Very. Perkins was beating his wife when I came in."

"What?"

"I say Perkins was beating his wife, but of course he stopped when I came in."

"Well, I should hope so."

"I begged him to go right on, but he said some other time would do just as well."

"You begged him to go on?"

"Why, yes, I didn't want to spoil the fun, you know."

"Oh, you brute!"

"Eh?"

"Do you mean to say you could have looked calmly on while he beat his wife?"

"Certainly. Why not."

"I thought you had at least a spark of manhood left. I suppose you will be beating me next."

"Yes, I think I could if you would play cribbage with me."

"Play cribbage?"

"Yes. That is what Perkins and his wife were doing."

"You horrid thing."—San Francisco Examiner.

Terrible Lyddite Shells.

London, Nov. 5—Transports have just been secured for the Woolwich Howitzer brigade, which will be hurried to the Cape. The brigade has 10,000 pounds of 5-inch lyddite shells awaiting it. According to the estimates, a single shell, falling into a compact body, will kill 300 men. It was demonstrated in the battle of Omdurman, which destroyed the army of Khalifa Abdullah, that a large number of Dervishes were killed by suffocation, while hundreds of vultures and eagles fell upon the battlefield from the same cause.

Greensboro Real Estate.

It is well to bear in mind that the sales now being made by the Central Land Company in the Vanbokelin addition will soon close out all property in and near the city, which can be obtained in large lots and at low prices.

The rate at which the city is growing, will in the near future largely enhance values of real estate, and this property now selling for a mere song, being both accessible and desirable, will show a greater advance and profit, than anyother now on the market.

Every man in Greensboro can afford to purchase one or more of these lots. The investment is safe and the profit is sure.

TUESDAY, NOV. 7, 1899.

The vice-president is lingering between life and death; the thread is almost parted. He has been before the public footlights for the last time.

The English government seems to be more busily engaged with trying to convince the world that the British were not defeated at Ladysmith than in following up their "victory" with greater aggressiveness.

One week from tomorrow—on the night of either November 15 or 16—the meteoric showers are billed by the astronomers to come. This is an occurrence of very great importance, and a most rare one, and one night's sleep should not be allowed to prevent anyone from witnessing it.

In twelve states today elections occur. The campaigns have all closed, the clamors have ceased, the last bitter words have been said, the last charge and counter-charge been made. Now the silent, potent ballots are in evidence. No man can predict with certainty the outcome of the fight in the important hotly-contested and doubtful states of Ohio and Kentucky. The democrats and republicans each claim everything in sight. A victory for either side would not be a surprise. It's all in the realm of conjecture and the close of the polls this evening with the close of the day will alone tell the tale.

The New York World's blatant advocacy of Dewey for the presidency has suddenly received a quietus by the public announcement of the admiral that "not under any circumstances" would he consent to be a candidate. There are several good things about this incident. The first is that the World has been made to feel like its true self—a great big gas-bag. Second, the people didn't want Dewey, nohow. He's a good fighter all right, but nobody has yet learned whether he's a democrat, a republican or a mugwump. Third: The present "circumstances" of the admiral are evidently such as to demonstrate the truth of a contemporary's tribute to his character that he would "rather be happy than be president."

A dispatch from Paris announces that Major Count Esterhazy, the reputed author of the bordereau which brought about the conviction of Captain Alfred Dreyfus on the charge of treason, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of fifty francs, for swindling his cousin. So it seems that justice, though considerably belated, has at last overtaken this white-livered knave. There will be no tears or regret anywhere for his discomfiture. If anybody ever deserved the halter or the guillotine, surely Esterhazy is that rascal. If, after the expiration of his term of imprisonment for the above-mentioned charge, he could be sent up for lifetime for the wrongs he inflicted upon Dreyfus, the world would be rid of one very great scoundrel.

The Philadelphia Record truly remarks that we shall know a great deal more about South Africa—its population, resources and topography—in the year 1900 than we do in 1899.

Wars are very enlightening affairs Many people, before our trouble with Spain arose, never heard of the Philippine islands, and had the idea that Cuba was nothing more than a little mile-or-two square island, covered with rocks, rank grass, lizards, snakes, spiders and a few savage negroes. In fact, the writer knows, in his own knowledge, where a fairly intelligent man, well to-do in this world's goods, and much esteemed by his neighbors, who, hearing of our approaching war with the Spaniards, spent an hour or two searching over a map of North Carolina for Spain.

Here is a story, the truth of which is guaranteed by Truth itself, and London Truth at that, so its accuracy is not to be questioned by the most skeptical: A gentleman—what could be more assuring?—who had met with an accident that had left one of his legs slightly shorter than the other, submitted himself to the ministration of divers eminent doctors, but none of them could help him. Then he determined to try "Christian Science," and a healer with a great reputation for miraculous powers cheerfully undertook his case. She "treated" him but once when she was obliged to take a journey on the Continent. She promised, however, to continue the course, and assured the patient that for her distance was no obstacle to success. So it proved. The leg began to grow longer soon after the "healer" departed. It continued to grow. It got as long as the other, but it showed no disposition to stop growing at that point. The owner became alarmed. He made inquiries after the absent healer, but failed to find her. His leg kept on growing, and in despair he advertised in the newspapers in the hope of stopping the absent treatment, but without success His leg is three inches longer than the other and is still growing.

THE SACRED CONCERT.

Will Have a Fond Place in the Memories of All Who Attended.

At West Market street Methodist church last night there was gathered an immense audience, who had come together to attend the sacred concert, given under the direction of Dr. J. H Wheeler, with Myra Albright as pianist.

The big auditorium and galleries were crowded to overflowing and a large number of people occupied seats in the Sunday school room.

This concert was a grand success, and will no doubt prove to be the most enjoyable musical entertainment of the season.

The chorus was strong and full of melody, music and sweetness, and the solos, duets and quartets reflected credit upon those who rendered them.

Greensboro people know how to appreciate music, and the efforts of Dr. Wheeler and all those who took part in the concert last night were crowned with honor and and every one received the plaudit of well done.

An important feature of the program was the excellent music furnished by the Home Orchestral Club.

The program opened with the Doxology by the audience, followed by Prof. P. P. Claxton, and a fervent prayer by Rev. Seabrooks.

Dr. J. C. Rowe, the pastor of West Market church, then made a brief address of welcome, and "Come Let Us Sing" was rendered by the full chorus.

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Bradley sang a beautiful duet entitled "My Faith Looks up to Thee," and a chorus of women's voices and a bass solo by Mr. Bradley, was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Alderman rendered an excellent cornet solo and a quartet composed of Messrs. McAdoo, Crawford, Alderman and Phillips sang two selections.

"Jeptha's Daughter," a reading by Miss Sims, appealed to the sublimest emotions of all her auditors This was followed by "Come Let Us Worship," Mendlesohn's dainty solo and chorus, Mr. Taylor, soloist, and Dr. Rowe made a few appropriate and complimentary remarks and expressed a desire that these enjoyable concerts be held frequently during this season.

While "Priest's March" was being rendered by the orchestra a collection was taken and a handsome sum realalized, to be applied to the organ fund of the church.

Beethoven's sweet "Hallelujah" was sung by the chorus and after the benediction by Dr. Rowe the audience dispersed.

The concert cannot be excelled, and a city that has such talent as was displayed at thisen'ertainment should indeed feel proud.

PACIFIC CABLE A NECESSITY.

Its Importance Strongly Urged by General Greely in His Report.

Washington, Nov. 6—The extent to which the government is constructing and operating cable and telegraph lines, as a result of recent territorial acquisitions, is brought out in the report of General Greely, chief signal officer. This shows that the telegraph system of Cuba, formerly owned and operated by Spain, has been taken over and developed by the signal corps, and that at the close of the fiscal year 2,500 miles of line were in operation, of which 60 miles were absolutely new lines and the remainder largely reconstructed.

General Greely discusses the question of Cuban cable and telephone concessions, showing the legal and diplomatic difficulties surrounding them, as well as the practical difficulties under which the military cable lines are kept in operation: He recommends the laying of a deep-sea cable between Porto Rica and Cuba which would cost about $600,000. By this means all communications between Porto Rico and the United States would pass over strictly American lines.

In the Philippines General Greely shows that the efforts of the United States to lay cables for military operations were antagonized by the private companies owning lines there. General Greely says there are certain provisions of the Spanish cable concessions which plainly cannot be acceded to by the United States, especially the absolute cable rights for an indefinite period, not only in the Philippines, but in all Spanish possessions in the Pacific.

He says it is only a matter of time when Luzon will be connected with Formosa by an international cable, thus giving an outlet to Japan and China.

A vague idea of the magnitude of the signal corps' work under Major Thompson's supervision in the Philippines, he says, may be conveyed by the statement that over the telegraph system alone more than 260,000 messages, many long and all on public business, were transmitted in the ten months ending June 30 and over 45,000 in May alone.

As to the Pacific cable, the report says, in part: "In order to join closer together the United States and its Pacific colonies it is essential to span the Pacific by a submarine cable, as recommended by the president to congress in his special message of February 10, 1899 The great value of such a cable is not alone for military purposes, but more especially for the fostering of industrial interests in the new colonies, and in order to facilitate commercial operations."

General Greely suggests that an international cable conference should consider the whole subject of the rights of cable property in time of war.

Wireless telegraphy receives considerable attention. General Greely says that as a means of connecting the islands of the West Indies, Hawaii and the Philippines, which are in the range of its action, wireless telegraphy should prove of value. The signal corps experiments have shown that its officers and men are able to furnish a practicable system of wireless telegraphy. The signal corps has already operated its own system successfully between Fire Island and Fire Island lightship, a distance of about twelve miles. General Greely says there is no reasonable doubt that in the immediate future wireless telegraphy will replace, with equal advantage to commerce and the army, the military cables necessary to connect harbor fortifications.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Daniel Lee, Colored, Mortally Wounds John Bows, White.

Roxboro, N. C., Nov. 6—Daniel Lee, a negro, shot and mortally wounded John Bows, white, this afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Bows and Lee were wrestling and Bows threw Lee. Lee rose and fired at Bows, the ball taking effect in the side and coming near the surface on the back. Both men are desperate characters.

Song.

O, like a queen's, her happy tread,
And like a queen's, her golden head!
But, O, at last, when all is said,
Her woman's heart for me!

We wandered where the river gleamed
'Neath oaks that mused and pines that dreamed,
A wild thing of the woods she seemed,
So proud and pure and free!

All heaven drew nigh to hear her sing,
When from her lips her soul took wing;
The oaks forgot their pondering,
The pines their reverie.

And O, her happy, queenly trend,
And O, her queenly golden head!
But, O, her heart, when all is said!
Her woman's heart for me!
—William Watson, in Spectator.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A foot rule—"Don't wear tight shoes."

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Had Nerve as Well as Weight.

In one of the newspaper composing rooms in this city there is a typesetting machine operator who is a great lover of horse racing A good share of his wages goes to the bookmakers at the local tracks during the racing season. although for some reason he never acquired the poolroom habit and has always refused to put down a bet unless he was "there to see how the dogs ran." He is fully six feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds. His size suggested a joke to one of his friends during the racing season last summer.

"Going to Sheepshead Bay today?" the friend asked.

"I'd like to, but if I go I won't have much left to bet with."

"I can give you a jockey's badge," said the friend.

"Gimme it," replied the printer, eagerly, never realizing the ridiculous contrast between his size and that of even the heavyweight jockeys. Armed with the jockey's badge, he presented himself at the race track gate and showed his badge. The ticket taker looked at him in astonishment.

"Great Scott!" he finally blurted out, "wot do you ride—the elephant?"

"There's one entered in the fifth race," was the reply And his nerve so paralyzed the gatekeeper that he was admitted.—New York Sun.

Hot Times.

"I can remember a good many years back," said a Detroit veteran in politics, "and, whatever may be said as to the integrity of our present statesmen, campaigns are conducted in a great deal more moderate tone than they used to be. Then it was the usual thing to indulge in the strongest possible abuse of men and parties.

"I once heard a joint debate between a couple of candidates for our legislature that will serve to illustrate. They taunted and berated each other till all other questions were lost sight of in the popular anxiety to see which excelled in this style of warfare.

"Finally the hotter headed of the two burst out in an announcement that he could whip his rival or any of his friends.

"'That reminds me,' said the other coolly, 'of a dog my father used to have that could whip any dog in the neighborhood or any that came that way with the teamsters.'

"'What's the application, sir?' roared the other. 'I'll stand no innuendoes, sir. Make your application, if you dare.

"'It is simply this, my pugnacious friend—no one ever thought of sending father's dog to the legislature.'"

The fire eater remained at home.—Detroit Free Press.

A Beetle That Cuts Metal.

There is no use trying to keep in confinement a curious little creature known as the metal cutting beetle.

Not long ago an entomologist caught one of these beetles and, unaware of its peculiar ability for sawing through anything in its way, put it in a cardboard box. Soon tiring of solitary confinement, or probably thinking its captor had forgotten to provide it with a door, the beetle cut one for itself and crawled out.

It was captured and put in a wooden box, and as soon as the novelty of its new home wore off, again the persevering insect cut a hole in the box and escaped.

The next time the escaped prisoner was caught it was put in a small glass jar with a tight fitting pewter cover, punctured to let in air. But the metal cutting beetle from Mexico scorned to live in a pepper box and gnawed a hole big enough to allow it to creep out into the big world again. And this time it was not caught.

Primitive Pipes.

The earliest Indian pipes were simply tubes, in one end of which the tobacco or dried leaves were put. It has been found that the pipes used by the ancient Romans were made on the same plan, the bowl being an invention reserved for a comparatively recent day It is worthy mentioning incidentally that the cigarette is really an invention of the Indians. They made cigarettes just like those now in use, with wrappers of the thinnest corn husks.

There is a popular notion, by the way, that paper used for modern cigarettes is destructive to health and apt to be saturated with drugs. Facts do not warrant this idea, inasmuch as the best cigarette paper is quite harmless, being made out of new linen rags from the refuse left over in the manufacture of shirts and other linen garments.

There is no such thing as rice paper. What is known as such is the pith of a plant cut in thin slices used by the Chinese for painting pictures.—Science Siftings.

Ireland Called Many Names.

Few countries have suffered so many changes of name as Ireland. In the time of Ptolemy the island was known as Scotia. Diodorus Siculus calls the island Ira, or Irisi; in the "De Mundo," credited by some scholars to Aristotle, it is called Ierene; in the "Argonautica of Orpheus" it appears as Irinus; Strabo calls it Irene; Cæsar, Tacitus and Pliny mention it as Hibernia; Mela called it Juverna. The native names in Celtic are Ir, Eri, or Erin. Plutarch mentions it under the name of Ogygia. The name Ireland is no doubt derived from the native Ir or Eri, but when it came into general use is a question concerning which scholars are much at variance.

Judicial Levity.

The police justice, who had the reputation of being a strictly upright and honest officer of the law and had little business in consequence, looked lugubriously at the frayed edges of the judicial coat.

Humiliating a Rival.

It is not a mooted question in Persia whether women dress for the eyes of men or those of women, as there only women see women, at parties. In her book, "Through Persia on a Sidesaddle," Miss Sykes, writing of the women of Teheran, the capital of Persia, confesses that even Mohammedan isolation does not prevent women from being envious of other women, if they are dressed better than themselves. She writes:

I was told that many of the fine ladies would give large sums in the European shops of Teheran for any brocade of silk which struck their fancy and would wear it at the next party to which they invited their friends, flaunting the new toilet ostentatiously before them to fire their jealousy.

Usually, however, one of the guests would pay her hostess out by buying some more of the same material and having it made up for one of her slave women. She then would invite a large company to tea, and the cups would be handed round by a negress adorned in the rich silks with which the former hostess is arrayed.

Later on the slave would dance before the guests. The great lady, who had been invited to be mortified, would be both disappointed and humiliated. The lady who had given the party would be pleased at vexing the rival.

Food in Siberia.

So hard is food frozen in Siberia during the winter that carcasses of sheep can only be divided by ax and saw. Fish caught through holes in the ice freeze while they jump. Eggs are as hard as flints. I have carried them in a sack over my horse's back.

The rivers of Siberia abound with excellent fish, among these a beautiful kind of grayling and the incomparable sterlet, quite the most delicious fish I know. While descending the Yenisei we caught a gigantic sturgeon, yielding many poods of coarse black caviare, a dainty highly esteemed. Sturgeon cutlets, with wild chervil for flavoring, are delicious. Quails and dabchicks are a favorite broil for second breakfast. The bread I found dark, hard and sour, but sustaining. A great deal of vodki is drunk, but it is both perilous and nauseous on account of the fusel oil it contains. Kwass in summer time is refreshingly acid, and, drunk from a small oaken bowl, it is better than cider.

Tea is taken at every meal, but is very weak. Brick tea is detestable. The stamped bricks are used as money till they are worn and dirty. They are then made into a kind of broth. All sorts of abominations are flung into it. The Khirgis have an insatiable appetite for brew "thick and slab," impossible to western palates.

Helen Irving's Tragic Death.

The tragic story of the beautiful and talented Scottish woman, Helen Irving, is not, perhaps, well known, although it has been celebrated in song. She had been for some time courted by two gentlemen whose names were Bell and Fleeming. Bell told the girl that if he ever found her in Fleeming's company he would kill him. She, however, had a strong regard for Fleeming, and one day, while walking along the romantic banks of the Kirtle, she observed his rival on the other side of the river among the bushes.

Conscious of the danger her lover was in, she passed between him and his enemy, who, firing, shot her dead. Fleeming crossed the river and killed the coward. A heap of stones was raised on the place where the brave woman fell, and she was buried in the near churchyard. Fleeming, overwhelmed with love and grief, went abroad, but soon returned and, stretching himself on her grave, expired. He was buried by her side.

A Lucky Hairdresser.

The old saying that a man may be a hero to every one but his valet is called to mind by an article in The Illustrated London News on "Famous Masters of the Tonsorial Art," in which stories are told of Duplan, the hairdresser to Napoleon. This astute man made himself so indispensable to the unfortunate Josephine and became so intimately acquainted with the emperor's affairs that he was retained in the service of the imperial family when Josephine was superseded by Marie Louise. He cared for the hair of both the emperor and empress, being paid 4,000 francs a year for service to the former and 6,000 for arranging the coiffures of the latter. Ultimately he was the recipient of about 40,000 francs a year, his demands being constantly increased because of Napoleon's restriction in refusing to allow the tonsorial artist to treat the hair of any other customer.

Gazelle Hunting.

Gazelles in Nubia are hunted by a powerful breed of hounds, in build somewhat heavier than a greyhound. In spite of being far swifter than the hound, the gazelle falls a victim from the nervous habit of constantly stopping to look back to see if it is pursued. It also expends its strength by taking great bounds in an almost vertical direction, thereby not only losing time, but exhausting itself, so that it is overtaken without difficulty.—Harper's Weekly.

Torpedo Boats.

The average distance of discovery of a torpedo boat by the searchlight from a battleship has been calculated to be 781 yards and the greatest distance 2,000 yards. Thus, taking the distance at which the torpedo can be fired with effect at 500 yards it will be generally found that a torpedo boat will have to cross about 800 yards under fire from the ship she is attacking, and it will take the little craft about half a minute to do this.

PROF. V. THEO. ELY,

(12 Years Experience in Teaching)

Graduate from Rochester Business University, Rochester, N. Y., will open up a select school in Both Double and Single Entry Book-keeping, Shorthand and Muscular Movement Business Writing, at the Brockmann School of Music Hall, beginning from 9 till 11 a. m., also a separate night school from 7:00 till 9:00 for those who cannot attend in day time. No extra tuition for combining both periods.

Tuition in both writing and book-keeping combined, full course, $5.00; writing alone, strictly slant, $3.00. Payable at the expiration of the term.

Success is guaranteed to all who attend regularly and apply themselves, or no charge will be made for tuition.

Term will continue until completed, which requires from six to eight weeks.

If you ever expect to learn book-keeping or to write a good hand, now is your time.

No tuition is paid till the term closes, and the term does not close till all have finished the book-keeping course, and each student is his own judge as to when he knows it.

This fact should be taken as sufficient guarantee of safety and success. Let the pupils attend regularly and we will be responsible for the rest. NO LESSONS TO STUDY AT HOME.

Stationery for full book-keeping course, including writing material, etc., not over 80 cents. Writing material, etc., furnished at the hall.

Hall will be kept warm and comfortable.

Why You Should Attend This School:

Because for $10.00 you get the same identical course in book-keeping and penmanship that you would get at any commercial college at from $150 to $250. Because you complete the course before you pay tuition. Because every subject is taught from the blackboard without the use of a text book. Because every other branch except book-keeping and writing, is excluded, making it possible to complete the course in from six to eight weeks.

Because we, the undersigned pupils, have just finished Prof. Ely's course in book-keeping and writing at Nicholson's Hall, Union, S. C., and freely testify to the fact that truly he offers a chance of a lifetime to learn these important branches of business education:

THE VACANT CHAIR.

When the little family circle is broken and we sit sadly looking upon the vacant chair, we think of the things that perhaps we might have done to keep the loved one with us. Why not think of these things now before it is too late? Is it a kind, loving and hard-working mother who is giving all her strength and efforts for the family well-being and happiness? Is it a delicate, fragile sister; or a weak and ailing wife? Try to give her the tender care she needs. Do not let her fade away for want of earnest effort to preserve and restore her.

An Ohio lady, Mrs. Shopshire, living in Ballou, Shelby Co., in a thoughtful letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "My mother had an ovarian tumor which we thought would result in her death, but we commenced using your 'Favorite Prescription,' and before she had taken three bottles she began to improve; she is living to-day and we have given your medicine the credit. My mother was sixty-six years old when the tumor commenced to grow; she is seventy-six now and the tumor is all gone. She had gotten awful large, and her limbs began to swell before she began to use your medicine. I value it so much that I am hardly ever out of it in my house."

This is but one of many thousands of instances in which this matchless "Prescription" has restored such complete health and purification to the distinctly feminine organism as to dispel every possible trace of abnormal or dangerous conditions without resort to surgery or similar obnoxious methods. For every form of female weakness and disease it is the supreme specific designed for this one purpose and no other by an educated skillful physician of extraordinary experience in this particular field of practice.

DEPENDED ON THE JUG.

Line Floated to Shore and Crews of Two Vessels Rescued.

Norfolk, V., Nov. 6—Particulars reached here tonight from Bogue Inlet, N. C., where the hurricane of last week was exceptionally severe, of the rescue of the crews of two Philadelphia-bound vessels—the James and Davis—both bound from Savannah with cargoes of lumber, which were wrecked off that place. The story of the rescue is thrilling. The two vessels left Savannah together and proceeded in company up the coast. The storm struck them off Frying Pan Shoals, on the North Carolina coast Both vessels made the best headway possible against it, but in the storm and darkness both were driven upon the beach at Bogue Inlet. The fisher folk and pilot's station there sighted the wrecks and made ready to render all assistance in their power. The vessels were stranded entirely too far off shore for much to be done by those on shore. The crews of both vessels owe their lives to the safe journey of an empty jug from Davis to the shore, and by this means the men were rescued. All night long the crews of the ill-fated schooners remained in the rigging, waiting for the jug upon which a score of human lives depended to reach shore. Captain Pittman says the suspense was awful. But for the success of the forlorn hope both crews must have been drowned.

Government work at the mouth of the Cape Fear has been seriously retarded and heavily damaged by the hurricane which has prevailed nearly the entire week. The breakwater was damaged to the extent of over $100,000 and it will take some time to repair it.

KEEP UP A BOMBARDMENT.

Boers Give English No Rest at Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 6.—The war office issued the following at 11:40 p. m. yesterday:

"Buller to the secretary of state for war, Cape Town, Nov. 5.—8:40 p. m — The commandant at Durban sends the following, received from Ladysmith by pigeon post, dated November 3:

" 'The bombardment of Ladysmith continued yesterday (Thursday) and today many Boer shells were pitched into the town.

" 'Yesterday General French went out with cavalry and effectively shelled the Boer lagger without loss on our side.

" 'Col. Brecklehurst, with cavalry, field artillery, the imperial light horse, and the Natal mounted volunteers was engaged today with the enemy to the southwest of Ladysmith. The fighting lasted several hours. Our loss was very small.

" 'Lieutenant Egerton, of the Powerful, is dead. Gen. Joubert sent in Major C. S. Kincaid, of the Royal Irish Fusileers, and nine wounded prisoners. Eight Boers were sent out in exchange, no others being fit to travel.

" 'Our troops are in good health and spirits, and the wounded are doing well.' "

The commandant at Durban further says he believes that Gen. French's name is given by mistake for General Brecklehurst.

"Whenever you come across a man who is continually finding fault with his surroundings," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "you can put it down that he's wrapped up in himself."

LaGrippe, with its after affects, annually destroys thousands of people. It may be quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure, the only remedy that produces immediate results in coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and throat and lung troubles. It will prevent consumption. Howard Gardner.

SCHLEY IN BIRMINGHAM.

He Will Open the Alabama State Fair Today.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 6—Rear Admiral Schley was enthusiastically welcomed here today by an immense crowd of Alabamians. He arrived about 11 o'clock from Atlanta, and was immediately escorted to the Morris hotel. At 2 o'clock an elaborate luncheon was served and two hours later the admiral gave a public reception at the hotel.

Tonight Admiral Schley was the guest of honor at the Southern club. Tomorrow there will be a military and civic parade, escorting the admiral to Smith's park, where he will formally open the state fair. In the evening the admiral will be given a banquet at the Florence hotel, and Mrs. Schley and Miss Letterman will be entertained at a public reception at the residence of Mrs Robert H. Pearson. The admiral and his party will leave for Washington at 5:55 o'clock Wednesday morning, via Chattanooga.

The news from Raleigh is that Holton, after a private confab with Butler; says that the Populists will unite with the republicans in the fight against the amendment. It seems to us that the only votes the republicans can corral in the populist party are those of the office seekers for the honest white populist believes in the rule of the white man. It would, perhaps, be better for Holton, before boasting of the populists who will vote against the amendment, to straighten out the prominent members of the republican party who are going to vote for the amendment.

The issue is way above a question of partisan politics. It is a question of whether or not the white man is going to rule in North Carolina and it is a question answered already.

Holton, Butler, et id omne genus, had best stand out of the way, for the amendment is going to win, and that by 50,000 majority.

As a rule amateur artists do their best drawing on the "old man."

The proper girl of the period is the one that comes to the point.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from rectal fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by C. E Holton, druggist.

TO RESTORE LOST SCALP.

One of the most extensive cases of skin grafting in the annals of the medical profession was undertaken yesterday at the Methodist Hospital on the head of a little girl, whose scalp was torn entirely off in her father's mill. A square inch of small bits of skin taken from the arm of another patient was grafted on the top of her head, and, if the operation proves successful, the father and friends of the girl will be asked to sacrifice larger strips of their own skin in order that her head may be healed. Even with fair success, years may elapse before enough skin is grafted to supply the place of the lost scalp.

Clara Hixon is the name of the unfortunate girl, and she is only 10 years old. She was in her father's grist mill, in Emmaville, near Altoona, and her long hair catching in a belt, her scalp was torn off from above her eyebrows to the base of her skull. She was brought to the Methodist Hospital on Wednesday of last week, and has nicely recovered from the shock. Dr John B. Roberts, chief surgeon, decided to try skin grafting, and the first application was made yesterday by the resident surgeon, Dr. J. R Crawford. Another female patient, whose skin is perfectly healthy, expressed her willingness to part with a square inch, and the grafting was done It is not a painful operation for either person, but later, when larger patches of skin are to be grafted, it is scarcely probable that anyone not directly interested in the child's recovery will sacrifice their own bodies. The skin at present is being taken in tiny circles, lifted on the point of a needle and snipped off with a sharp knife.

Another square inch will be grafted today, but until two or three days have passed it cannot be told whether or not the operation is successful. The science is in its infancy, and widely different results are obtained under apparently similar conditions. The medical profession will watch with interest the progress of the operation on Clara Hixon's head. The pain of having her head dressed daily is borne bravely by the little girl. Her ankles were slightly injured in the accident, but when they are well she will be able to run about while the tedious growth of her new scalp is progressing.—Philadelphia Record.

THORITE FOR ARTILLERY.

New and Powerful Explosive for Use in the Philippines.

Washington, Nov. 6.—American artillery in the Philippines is to be supplied with a high explosive similar to that used by the British against the Boers in South Africa, against which General Joubert has entered protest.

English lyddite is not near as powerful as thorite, the new explosive just adopted by the bureau of ordnance. It was invented by Dr. Tuttle, of Seattle, and officers who possess the secret are on duty at Sandy Hook where manufacture of the compound will begin in a few days.

Officers who have tested it say that it is far in advance of any explosive now in use in the world. It is absolutely safe when handled outside of the gun, and is just as safe when in the charged shell. It is believed to have good keeping qualities, and tests conducted at Sandy Hook have shown it to have remarkable power. In this respect it is ahead of lyddite, and shells charged with thorite will burst into thousands of fragments and scatter over large areas.

The value of such an explosive for use in the Philippine campaign is recognized by the secretary of war, and orders have been issued to hasten the manufacture of thorite as much as possible, so that a large quantity may be sent at once to General Otis for use in the 3.2 inch shells of field guns.

REV. S. A. DONAHOE

Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

On the 10th of December, 1897 Rev. S. A. Donahoe, pastor M. E. Church, South, Point Pleasant, W. Va., contracted a severe cold, which was attended from the beginning by violent coughing. He says: "After resorting to a number of so-called 'specifics,' usually kept in the house, to no purpose, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

James Reed Injured.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave it any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Mr. Reed is one of the leading merchants of Clay Court House, W. Va. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

WILL DISFRANCHISE THE NEGRO.

Georgia to Adopt an Amendment to its Constitution.

Atlanta, Ga. Nov. 4—The committee on constitutional amendment of the Georgia house of representatives yesterday recommended the passage of Representative Hardwick's bill disfranchising the negro. The bill imposes an educational qualification on the negro voter, and Mr. Hardwick stated plainly that its object was to rid the state of the illiterate and purchasable negro vote. It is believed that the passage of the bill by the house is assured.

A MEDICAL DISCUSSION

Suddenly Ended—Lucifer Indulges in Hostile Demonstrations.

Roy Jones, a young man on the Telegram force, who chews chewing gum, goes to school and has sweethearts, came in about 2 o'clock with his books under his arm and a yellow-fevered expression on his phiz. He wore a bespattered look, was chilly and complained of star-spangled agony coursing up and down the sides of his head, occurring occasionally in fork-tailed plunges into the pericardium. This was a great thing for science and the Prowler and the snake editor immediately with great pomp and ponderosity, went into a quarrelsome discussion. The snake editor pronounced the young man's ailment peri-endo-carditis, induced by acute snowedunderness, which the Prowler flatly denied on the ground that the patient, having been a smoker of cigarettes, had destroyed his heart long since.

There is no telling where the discussion would have ended, but for the sudden appearance of His Satanic Majesty on the scene, who with much "swimming in the head" and many other hostile demonstrations scared off the two quacks, who were unable to arrive at any well-defined diagnosis.

Prepare to Meet Thy God.

Dr. S. M. Smith preached a powerful sermon at the First Presbyterian church last night, taking for his subject "Prepare to Meet Thy God." He explained that the meeting between God and sinner is inevitable. He stated that the God that must be met is a God of prayer, a God of justice and mercy, and an all-wise God, and that there is no escaping from this meeting. This being true, he urged his hearers to prepare for the meeting. He said the preparation is so necessary and yet so simple, and the speaker made plain all requisites necessary to a thorough preparation for this meeting. Dr. Smith held the undivided attention of every one of his hearers. The discourse was a solemn and earnest appeal and made a deep impression on the audience. Services every afternoon at 3 o'clock and 7:30 at night.

Death at Pomona.

Mrs. John W. Cook died at Pomona this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and will be buried at Guilford College tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Deceased was 44 years of age, and was the wife of ex-Sheriff Cook. She has been a patient sufferer for six weeks from pleurisy, which developed into dropsy of the lungs.

A husband, one daughter, an aged mother, five brothers, two sisters and a large circle of friends are left to mourn her demise. She was a woman of many noble traits of character, and her friends were counted by her acquaintances.

Making Sure of Him.

"If you were going to propose to a girl," she said as the conversation lagged somewhat, "how would you get about it?"

"I haven't given the matter much thought," he replied, "but I am inclined to think that I would get down on one knee, like this."

"Yes."

"And then I would take her hand, like this."

"Yes."

"And then I would say: 'Darling, will you be mine?'"

"Oh, George," she exclaimed, "this is so sudden, but—but—yes, I will."

And all the way home that evening he wondered how it happened and whether he was quite as smart as he sometimes thought he was.

AT LAST.

The Odd Fellows Hall Selected for the Chrysanthemum Show.

After a great deal of difficulty in trying to select a suitable place for holding their chrysanthemum show on Thursday and Friday of this week, the ladies of the West Market Aid Society have, through the courtesy of the officers of the Odd Fellows lodge, secured their hall on West Market street over the Christian Advocate office.

All ladies of the congregation interested, directly or indirectly, in the show, are requested and urged to meet in this hall promptly at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning as there is a great deal of work to be done preparatory to the occasion.

The matter of selecting the place for the show, having been left entirely in the hands of Mrs. E C. Watlington, we are sure that this selection is the very best and the only available place suitable for the exhibit in this city.

All who have flowers or fancy work of any description to exhibit are requested to enter same by 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and any information relative to prizes can be obtained by calling at Johnson & Dorsett's store.

Choice refreshments, consisting of turkey, salads, celery, sauces, oysters and delicious cream and cake will be served.

It is unnecessary for the Telegram to urge the patronage of the good people of Greensboro for so worthy a cause, inasmuch as the past has shown them ever ready and willing to respond to similar affairs, not only with their presence but "otherwise" We feel confident in assuring all who attend a delightful time.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Will Consider Mr. Cone's Proposition and Decide at Next Meeting.

The board of county commissioners met in regular monthly session at the court house yesterday and transacted routine business.

A committee composed of J. M. Hendrix, George W. Denny, W. C. Rankin, W. D. Wharton and J. A. Rankin appeared before the commissioners and urged them to accept the proposition of Mr. Ceasar Cone relative to macadamizing the road leading north from the end of Summit avenue. The proposition was published in the Telegram last week. No action was taken on the prosition, but the commissioners requested the committee to come before the board at its next regular meeting, on the first Monday in December, and assured the gentlemen composing the commitee that they would consider the proposition and give a definite answer at that time.

The board adjourned to meet in special session on Thursday, when they will discuss plans and specifications for Guilford's new jail.

$200 Reward.

Marshal Millikan was here this morning on his way to Asheville, where court is in session this week. He has just been authorized to offer a reward of $200 for the capture of W. H. Honeycutt, who is charged with the murder of Deputy Marshal Grier recently.

The marshal had been informed by a man that he could take Honeycutt, and would do it as soon as a reward was offered. News of the reward was wired to this man, and the marshal expects soon to have the murderer.—Salisbury Sun.
